

The Museum of Comedy presents...

Geoff Norcott: The Look of Moron

14 and 21 October @ 7pm
Museum of Comedy, London

'On the comedy circuit this much is sure: he's an absolute tonic ★★★★★'

Dominic Cavendish

The Daily Telegraph

Geoff Norcott is selfish, incapable of compassion and buys the Daily Mail...well, he voted Conservative so that must be true, right?

Previously nominated for 'Best New Show' at Dave's Leicester Comedy Festival, Geoff Norcott takes on such assumptions along with many more that fester in the minds of modern morons, be they lazy Corbynistas who needed two election defeats before they felt compelled to part with £3 - or vegetarians bursting with pulses and contradictions.

However, Geoff too is becoming more stupider; he recently watched something on Channel 5. So, before he plunges down the IQ rankings, he wants to offer some unique perspectives.

First, corporations - he's for them. The only reason the likes of Google got so big in the first place was because people kept buying what they were selling. Money is the purest form of democracy. NHS privatization? He's for that too. Why should people be able to drink a litre of vodka a day for decades then go running to the state when their kidneys hurt?

Geoff's not preaching to the choir - he's actively looking to pick fights with it.

'Geoff Norcott is a comedian with a big future.' The Mirror

Geoff Norcott is fast becoming one of the most sought-after comics on the circuit, with an impressive list of TV writing credits and a sitcom pilot commissioned by BBC Radio 4. In addition to the shows above, Geoff has written for: Stand up for the Week (C4), C4's Alternative Election 2015, British Comedy Awards (C4), Live at the Apollo (BBC 1), A League of their Own (SKY1), Funny Old Week (ITV1), Play to the Whistle (ITV1), and, on radio The Now Show (BBC R4).

Last year Geoff appeared on Comedy Central's Comedy Store and he's back on the same show this year, as well as supporting both Sarah Millican and Kevin Bridges on tour.

'Funny, charming, optimistic, but with enough good quality dark material to make you really believe what he's saying.'

The List

'Someone whose wit and joke count would be hard to equal'

The Public Reviews

'I saw Geoff Norcott's show yesterday and loved it so much. Jokes, jokes, jokes.'

Katherine Ryan

'By comedy standards, Norcott is an out and out rebel'

Daily Express

'Master of anecdotal story-telling'

Edinburgh Festival Magazine

'Stand up at its very best'

Broadway Baby
