

Ingenious Fools present

Milo Edwards: How Revolting! Sorry To Offend.

A stand-up comedy show about class, Britain, common decency and other revolting things that are best not talked about.

UK National Tour 2025

‘He must surely go onwards and upwards.’

★★★★ The Telegraph

‘Edwards has quietly become one of the UK’s smartest, most vital stand-ups.’

Tim Harding’s Comedy Diary, Chortle

Milo Edwards (twice nominated for Leicester Comedy Festival’s Best Show, host of the Trashfuture and Glue Factory podcasts) is a stand-up comedian and he’s noticed that some people seem to think that he’s posh. But he isn’t posh, unless you’re asking his brother. Milo is from Essex. He once got a temporary tattoo on his arse.

In How Revolting! Sorry to Offend., Milo is answering the salient questions of modern British life, such as: Who are the posh and what are they up to? Why can’t Danny Dyer and Boris Johnson fulfil their true destinies? And, under what circumstances can a man reasonably be expected to learn Dutch?

Against a backdrop of a Britain in an advanced state of decay, a country where the post might arrive every other day and where visiting your dentist involves a day trip and sandwiches, Milo asks: it’s a revolting state of affairs but are we really offended?

Find out why spite might be the answer, why owning an air fryer is one of the few discernible social identities left and why the Falklands War was the last and truest expression of Britishness.

‘Arguably the most joke-dense hour you’ll see...Near perfect.’

The Wee Review ★★★★★

Milo Edwards is a critically acclaimed stand-up comedian and podcaster from Essex. He was a member of the Cambridge Footlights and a student comic before moving to Moscow in 2015, where he became a TV performer.

From 2018, Milo became a rising star of the UK stand-up scene, with his 2019 Edinburgh Fringe show Pindos (about his time as a comedian in Russia) receiving five-star reviews and the ScotsGay Comedy Award, later being released as a YouTube special in 2023. His second Edinburgh Fringe hour, Voicemail, had a close to sold-out run at the festival in 2022 and was nominated for Best Show at Leicester Comedy Festival before transferring to a UK tour and the Melbourne International Comedy Festival the following year.

Sentimental, Milo's third Edinburgh Festival hour, was his most highly reviewed yet and was nominated for multiple awards at the Fringe including the ISH Edinburgh Comedy Award and the NextUp Biggest Award in Comedy. In 2024, it transferred to a sell-out run at the Melbourne Comedy Festival and then to a UK tour, as well as picking up a second consecutive nomination for Best Show at the Leicester Comedy Festival. Sentimental will be recorded on 27th September at Underbelly Boulevard, London (3pm): <https://underbellyboulevard.com/tickets/milo-edwards-sentimental/>

How Revolting! Sorry to Offend ran at the Edinburgh Fringe in 2024 and received 9 x 4 and 5-star reviews. Milo's latest work-in-progress show was recently nominated for Best Comedy Show at the Newcastle Fringe Festival, in July 2025.

As well as performing stand-up, Milo is a host of the popular political comedy podcast Trashfuture, which has over 50,000 listeners globally and has featured guests such as Rob Delaney, Nish Kumar, Mark Watson, Owen Jones, Franz Ferdinand (not the archduke) and Josie Long. He also hosts the podcasts Masters of Our Domain with Phoebe Roy, Glue Factory with Pierre Novellie and Olga Koch, and formerly hosted the Russian podcast TooMuch (Тымач).

Milo has written for Mock The Week (BBC2), Hello America (Quibi), Breaking The News (BBC Scotland) and The News Quiz (BBC R4) and his writing has also appeared in Private Eye and The New Statesman.

He lives in North London and is an orphan.

'A high-octane hour of laughs ... astonishingly intelligent satire.'

★★★★★ Entertainment Now

'Edwards has really found his voice as a comedian.'

★★★★★ Broadway Baby

'Very smart and articulate comedy.'

★★★★ Three Weeks

'A captivating hour of biting satire and razor-sharp call backs.'

★★★★ Ed Fest Mag

'Fresh, funny and full of drive, Mr Edwards is a terrific comic presence.'

★★★★ The Real Chrisparkle

'Milo Edwards is certainly one to watch.'

★★★★ Ed Fringe Review

'Keeps you hooked throughout...a sharp wit.'

★★★★ Bruce Dessau, Beyond the Joke

'An excellent hour of clever, tightly-written stand-up... a wry, hilarious cynicism... delivering intelligent punchlines at a staggering rate of knots.'

★★★★ Sunday Post

'Frequently uproarious, with greased up machine-tooled gags rattling out across the hour giving very little space for breath.'

★★★★ Chortle

'Dexterous delivery...with inch-perfect accuracy.'

★★★★ The List

'We need comedians like Milo Edwards.'

ScotsGay ★★★★★

Nominee - Best Show - Leicester Comedy Festival 2023 & 2024

Nominee - NextUp Biggest Award in Comedy 2023

Nominee - Best Show - Edinburgh(ish) Comedy Awards 2023

Winner - ScotsGay Comedy Award 2019

Website: <https://www.miloedwards.co.uk>

Social media links via: https://linktr.ee/milo_edwards

Clips here

Full Listing:

Title: Milo Edwards: How Revolting! Sorry To Offend.

Age: 16+

Duration: 1 hour

Entry: £10

6th September Norden Farm, Maidenhead

21st September Cambridge Junction

25th Sept Fire Station, Oxford

28th Sept Motel Nights, Cardiff

9th Oct Komedia, Brighton

11th Oct Attic, Southampton

16th Oct Lescar, Last Laugh Sheffield

18th Oct Hot Water, Liverpool

19th Oct Fairfield Social Club, Manchester

20th Oct Hyde Park Book Club Leeds, (Basement)

21st Oct Monkey Barrel, Edinburgh

24th Oct Alphabetti, Newcastle

1st Nov The Stand, Glasgow

16th Nov Angel, Comedy Club

2nd Dec Bristol, The Gaffe Comedy Club

3rd Dec Bath, Rondo

15th Feb Birmingham Glee

High resolution press images available HERE

All photos credit Joshua Peroti

Media contact: Julian Hall at Textual Healing PR, 07810 486658 / textualhealingpr@gmail.com /
@TextualHealing2