Ian Smith: Foot Spa Half Empty

A show about stress, love and buying a magic spell off Amazon

★★★★★ Telegraph

'A distinctive talent, a hugely enjoyable hour.' ★★★★★ The Times

'A killer stage return from a man now increasingly recognisable from your TV screens.' ★★★★★ Guardian

Extended UK tour including Soho Theatre residency

'The combination is relentless and irresistible, an hour of gimmick-free stand-up with a world-class gag rate.' ★★★★★.5 Chortle

Edinburgh Fringe Comedy Award nominee, Ian Smith (Live at The Apollo, Have I Got News For You, 8 Out of 10 Cats Does Countdown) has extended the UK tour of his acclaimed new show, Foot Spa Half Empty, an hour of shouting into the wind about everything he's stressed about - big and small. Only this time the wind answers back.

A working class Northerner struggling to adapt to his slow creep towards becoming middle-class, Ian is managing to find life more stressful than ever.

Then, when a fertility test brings back some genuinely stressful results, Ian has to contend with his own anxieties and the plethora of useless information he can find online. He realises he has to try harder than ever to do all the right things and relax, but of course he's willing to try some of the weirder stuff too, like going to see a dodgy acupuncturist and ordering a fertility magic spell from Amazon.

'The show that made me laugh the hardest. Smith cast a spell over the audience.'
